Employing 14–17 Year Olds in Restaurants: What Work Can They Do?

16- and 17-Year-Olds

16- and 17-year-olds may do most kinds of work in restaurants, but are prohibited from doing the following types of hazardous work:

- Working with power-driven meat processing machines.
  This includes meat slicers, saws, patty forming machines, grinders, or choppers. Employees under 18 are not permitted to operate, feed, set-up, adjust, repair, or clean such machines.

- Working with commercial mixers and certain power-driven bakery machines.
  Employees under 18 are not permitted to operate, feed, set-up, adjust, repair, or clean such machines.

- Driving.
  Generally, no employee under 18 may drive on the job or serve as an outside helper on a motor vehicle on a public road. But 17-year-olds who meet certain specific requirements may drive in very limited situations. Such minors are prohibited from making time-sensitive deliveries (such as pizza deliveries or other trips where time is of the essence) and from driving at night.

However:

- Cooking on a grill or fryer is not prohibited.
- Use of non-powered knives is not prohibited.
- Selling to motorists from a window-counter is not prohibited.

They may not operate NIECO broilers, rotisseries, pressure cookers or fryolators.

- They may dispense food from cafeteria lines and steam tables and heat food in microwave ovens that do not have the capacity to heat food over 140°F.

- They may clean kitchen surfaces and non-power-driven equipment, and filter, transport and dispose of cooking oil, but only when the temperature of the surface and oils do not exceed 100°F.

- They may not perform any baking activities.

- They may not operate power-driven lawn mowers or cutters.

- They may not work in freezers or meat coolers.
